On the Applicability of Fractional Derivatives in Physics

Rudolf Hilfer

Universität Stuttgart

The presentation will review some basic questions concerning the applicability of fractional derivatives and fractional differential equations in physics. Attention is focussed on locality in space and time, as well as on the relation between fractional diffusion and continuous time random walks.